Legal Action Clarify a School Law

Board members has been Polaski Chancery Court.
The law changed the election from the first Saturday in September to the first Sat-date was in conflict with the measure set the last year in September; the body day in October.

ate Committee's chief investigator, is writing a book about the investigations.

he had held since last year.

Crossroads of America Is St. Louis, This Week's Tour

ST. LOUIS, AMERICA'S CROSSROADS CITY, offers the visitor everything from history and floral beauty to baseball, symphonies, a famed zoo with performing animals, boat rides on Old Man River. The Magic Circle leads to St. Charles, home of Linden-wood College; through rich farmland to State Park; magnificent Daniel Boone family; wooded Culver State Park; magnificent panoramas from the Mississippi bluffs; Louisiana, where the Delicious apple was developed; across the river into Illinois for fishing, hunting, beaches, sailing and Pere Marquette State Park, a memorial to the French priest-explorer.

Editor's Note: This is the 41st in a series of suggested highway tour maps which the Hope Star is publishing weekly. This is excellent material to cut out and paste up in a scrapbook for future reference when planning your vacation trip.

By EDWARD COLLIER
For nearly 200 years St. Louis has been the crossroads meeting place for the restless tide of American empire-builders. It was appropriate, then, when they made it official in 1904 with the popular old ditty "Meet Me In St. Louis, Louis" for the World's Fair.

The luck of visitors started with the French fur traders who settled here on the banks of the Mississippi while it was still part of Spanish Louisiana. Then came frontiersmen, pioneers and the eager taking a second breath before rushing West to the gold fields.
The waterfront boomed for this was the era of the steamboat.
Railroad building ended the river traffic, and the city became the nation's greatest rail center.

Today St. Louis, a hub of transcontinental superhighways, continues its winning ways — an all-time, all-American on anyone's team of civic greatness. Sweeter summer and the winter chill off Old Man River are "old no head" as the city surges ahead in every field from shoes to beer, public gardens to symphonies, great colleges to heralded tourist

Constitution Week Observance Is September 17-23 and DAR, as Usual, Takes Leading Part

By MARY ANITA LASETER
"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Everyone recognizes the above quotation as the Preamble to the U. S. Constitution. The concluding paragraph of that document has the date of the consent by the States as September 17, 1787, so observed September 17-23.

In the Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine for August-September 1959, that organization's President, General Doris Pike White, calls attention to the fact that "the amazing growth of our country has resulted directly from the protection of the lives, liberties, and property of its individual citizens and the release of individual initiative and effort resulting from that protection. We are the grateful beneficiaries of the wisdom and foresight of our Revolutionary ancestors."

Who were the men who created and signed the document which William Gladstone, the great English statesman, called "the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man?"
They were a combination of brilliant young men and wise experienced men. For instance, when Alexander Hamilton was only 23, he recognized the need of some

Nehru Heckled For Appeasing Red China

By WATSON SIMS

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru was heck-led by opposition members in Parliament today on charges of appeasing Red China in the border dispute.

They called on the government to use bombs—if necessary — to dislodge Chinese Communist troops from Indian territory.

Nehru angrily accused the opposition of unrealistic "brave gestures" and rejected the suggestion to use force.

The furor came even as Nikita S. Khrushchev appeared to be making headway in getting Peiping and the Nehru government to cool off their hot border dispute which has been casting a shadow over his impending mission to the United States.

After days of flinging bitter charges of aggression against each other, the two giant Asian countries gently tossed out peace feelers Friday in their quarrel involving roughly 35,000 square miles of frontier territory.

Red China's parliamentary Standing Committee, called into a special session Friday to hear a report on the dispute, is meeting again today.

Peiping and New Delhi have both welcomed the Moscow statement on Wednesday appealing to them to resolve their border feud peacefully.

A pro-Communist Indian weekly this morning suggested Khrushchev may offer himself as an intermediary after his 12-day tour of the United States beginning Tuesday with the professed purpose of easing international tensions.

The Soviet Premier has announced already he will visit Peiping for conferences with Chinese Communist leaders Sept. 29 on his return home.

Under the headline "Khrushchev may visit Delhi after Peiping," the leftist Bombay newspaper Blitz speculated this morning in a front page story.

Nehru Sees No War as Result of Invasion

By WATSON S. SIMMS

Prime Minister Nehru said today he did not believe India's dispute with Red China would lead to war, not even a "small one."

He said India would accept mediation or arbitration of some small territorial disputes along her northern frontiers.

"But I am not speaking of bigger questions—of large areas being claimed on Chinese maps," the prime minister told a news conference.

"The seriousness of the situation is not that of the border," Nehru maintained, "but of the growth of feeling of estrangement, irritation and anger on both sides."

But Nehru told Parliament Thursday that the latest letter from Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China added to the gravity of the border crisis because Red China's policy has step by step "become more rigid."

India and Red China have accused each other of aggression.
Each has demanded that the other withdraw its military forces from border areas whose ownership is being questioned.

Nehru earlier declared that a few miles of jungle territory were not worth a war, but that a treaty was a different thing. He said the MacMahon line defining the border between Tibet and India should be accepted by China.

Chou, in his latest communication, however, attacked the line Chinese claims, according to their maps, would push the line from the crest of the Himalayas down to the foothills near the Brahmaputra River, taking in thousands of square miles.

State Demos Plan Dinner for Harmony

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Top Arkansas Democratic Party officials are planning a "harmony" dinner to raise party funds and chore up feud-splitter fronts.

Gus Camp, state Dollars-for-Democrat chairman, and Harold Jinks, regional Democratic National Committee representatives, both of Piggott, are promoting the event. It is scheduled Oct. 30 at Little Rock.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Rep.
Dale Alford (D-Ark) have been invited to the dinner. Former Gov.
Nin T. Laney and Sid McMath, opponents of Faubus in his third-term bid—reportedly have been invited.

McMath said he told Jinks he would attend the harmony meeting.

"But I said I thought one of the best ways of promoting Democratic Party harmony," McMath added, "would be to give the people a voice in next year's presidential election."

This referred to a touchy issue in the party this year, a 1950 state law which freed Arkansas' presidential electors. It allows them to vote for whom they please, no matter how the people voted. The law also removes the names of presidential candidates from the ballot.

Another party sore point is Al-ford's victory over Brooks Hays in last November's congressional election. Alford was an Independent out, write-in candidate and Hays was the Democratic nominee.

Some party powers feel Alford—seated in the House as a Democrat—violated rules by opposing a Democratic nominee.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) has accepted an invitation to speak at the $10-a-plate dinner and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) may come.

val E. Faubus today appointed

Congress Hopes To Adjourn By Monday

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mixed brow of civil rights and foreign aid is served up in the Senate today as Congress approaches adjournment.

The controversy swirling about the last major piece of legislation could boil over and spoil plans for an early wrap-up.

But leaders were hopeful that the lid would not blow off and that Congress could finish its work by Monday.

There even seemed to be a long-shot possibility that the session would end late Saturday night, as evidenced by the decision of the House to meet and stand by to see what happens in the Senate.

Up for Senate action is a $3-691,269,500 catchall money bill.
The great bulk, 3,284,513,000, is for foreign aid.

Although the foreign aid total is 648 million dollars below President Eisenhower's original request, the big figure was expected over a move to hook a civil rights rider on the appropriations measure.

The rider, strongly opposed by Southern senators, would extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission for two years and give it $500,000 for the current fiscal year. The commission is scheduled to go out of existence Nov. 1.

Attaching the extension measure to the money bill requires suspension of a Senate rule harring legislation in an appropriation bill. It takes a two-thirds majority to do this. If attached, the rider could be adopted by a majority vote.

Southerners could filibuster against the move. But they are aware that if they do, they may tough off a drive by civil rights advocates to pass a measure the Southerners would find harder to stomach.

In any event, Southern senators planned to blast anew a report by the commission on its investigation of voting rights and of civil rights in the fields of education and housing.

4th Bombing Attempt Is Disclosed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Police Chief Gene Smith disclosed today that a fourth bombing attempt apparently was planned at Little Rock last Monday night.

Smith said a police investigation had turned up evidence that a bombing was planned at the office of Lecher Langford, a member of the city board of directors, in the downtown Prudential Life Insurance building.

No bomb went off there but three blasts damaged the Little Rock School Board building, the business office of Mayor Werner C. Kneop and a station wagon of Fire Chief Gann Nalley.

Smith also said that in checking on the unsuccessful bombing attempt, officers found a cache of about 65 sticks of dynamite 14 miles west of Little Rock.

He did not elaborate on the ennouncement.

Compromise Farm Surplus Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed a $4,100,000-600 compromise farm surplus disposal bill providing for overseas use of government-held crop surpluses and setting up a food stamp plan for the needy at home.

The bill, worked out in a Senate-House conference still is subject to Senate action.

Opposed by the Eisenhower administration, the two-year food stamp program was tacked on a two-year extension of the five-year-old law under which billions of dollars of U.S. surpluses have been sold abroad for foreign currencies or given away.

The stamp plan is left to the discretion of the secretary of agriculture whether it should be put into effect.

There is as much authority in families today as ever—only now the kids exercise it.

Gregory Peck stars in the never-to-be-forgotten motion picture... "Pork Chop Hill" coming to the Saenger theater in Hope Sunday and Monday. On the map it was only 237 feet high; on the screen, it towers above any other war story ever told.

Rosalind Russell stars in "Auntie Mame" with Forrest Tucker and Fred Clark, coming Sunday, Sept. 20th to the Saenger's giant screen.

Woman-Talk Always Perks Up Men-Talk

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

It is a fact increasingly recognized by big business these days that man-talk always perks up with the introduction of a little woman-talk.

That may be why millinery designer Sally Victor has been asked to be a featured speaker at one of the country's most august gatherings of big business men, the Boston Conference on Distribution, sponsored by the business schools of Harvard, Boston College, Boston University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Northeastern University and the Boston Chamber of Commerce, plus 82 cooperating business and educational institutions.

"Gracious, I'm no Ph. D.," says the strictly feminine and often frivolous Sally. "I don't know why they asked me, except that I've noticed that most men love to talk about women's hats."

Sally has been designing hats for no better reason than to make women look pretty for about 30 years but never has taken either herself or her hats seriously.

"I never believed a hat was a necessity, and I still don't," says Sally. "No woman wears a hat just to keep her head warm or to avoid sunstroke—or if she does, she doesn't deserve it. A woman wears a hat to enhance what she has or to hide what she hasn't. She wears a hat to make her look glamorous. And if a man whistles at her, she knows the hat is a success."

Now about this speech.

"It's no use for me to make like a professor," says Sally. "I'm just not the type. I guess I'll just take along a pretty model and some hats, maybe I can call them Exhibit A and Exhibit B and so on, and show the gentlemen the difference between just a hat and one the boys will whistle at."

Bobcats Lose To Pine Bluff By 19-7 Score

By TEDDY JONES JR.
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Big Nine Zebras of Pine Bluff defeated the AA Bobcats 19 to 7 last night in Jordan Stadium before a crowd of over 5,000. By their victory last night the Zebras avenged last year's defeat at the hands of the Bobcats.

For twenty two minutes of the first half the teams battled on even terms until timely breaks gave the Zebras their first scoring opportunities. With two minutes remaining in the second quarter Charles Phillips, Zebra quarterback, took Smiley's punt on the Bobcat 30 yard line and behind good blocking crossed the goal line for the first touchdown. Quarterback Gordon Guest's conversion was good.

On the second play following the kickoff Gordon Guest, the Zebras' All State Quarterback picked up Smiley's wild lateral and scrambled untouched 27 yards for the Zebras' 2nd touchdown. Try for the extra point failed. The score at halftime was Pine Bluff 13, Hope 0.

Midway in the third quarter Gary Shenall, Pine Bluff fullback, took five yards through the Bobcat line for the Zebras' final touchdown which had been set up by a 30 yard pass from Quarterback Guest to End George Jones. Try for extra point was no good.

Early in the 4th quarter Terry Don-Thurman, Hope fullback, picked up a fumble by Jerry Mayer, Zebra halfback, and ran 19 yards for Hope's only TD. Joe Duke's try for extra point was good, bringing the score to 19-7 at that point.

Thurman's touchdown sparked the Bobcats and the Hope eleven dominated the play for the remainder of the game. A determined ground attack, coupled with Quarterback Smiley's aerials to Halfback Johnny Turner and End Larry Vaughn drove the Cats as far as the Zebras eight yard line where they lost the ball on downs.

The underdog Bobcats won the battle of the statistics over the top rated Big 9 Zebras. In total yardage Coach Pierce's Bobcats overshadowed the highly publicized Zebras eleven.

The Bobcats throttled the efforts of All State Quarterback Gordon Guest who was able to complete only 3 passes. The Bobcats forward wall dogged the big Zebras back all night. Hope Quarterback Byron Smiley surprised both the Zebras and the fans with some nifty passing of his own and overshadowed Guest in this department by completing seven passes for 107 yards.

Best performers for the Big 9 eleven were backs Shenall, Phillips and Guest. The Big Zebras line, outgunning the Cats 15 to 20 pound per man, pretty well throttled the Bobcat running attack until the fourth quarter drive. Overall team effort was outstanding for Hope.

Pine Bluff fans were high in their praise of the performance of Coach John Pierce's Bobcats. The Zebras had been favored by as much as 30 points in "up-town Pine Bluff talk." After the grueling battle Pine Bluffs were quick to point out that the Bobcats had been underrated.

A sizeable motorcade of Hope fans were led to the game by Police Chief Jack Brown and Sheriff Jimmie Griffin. Bobcat Boosters were also high in their praise of the entire Bobcat team and the splendid showing they made from the underdog role. Two major breaks contributed to the quick Zebras touchdowns in the final two minutes of the first half and even-

THE DARK FANTASTIC BY WHIT MASTERS

THE STORY: The border service has learned that the Kari-Rum, a tramp steamer believed to be carrying plague bacteria, is headed for Mazatlan, Mexico. American and Mexican authorities are hopeful of preventing a disastrous epidemic.

CHAPTER VI
As he neared the conclusion of his story, Aguilar noticed a movement at the rear of the banquet hall. A man had entered and was standing there. Aguilar recognized him as Kelso, his opposite number in the U. S. Border Patrol. They were friends of long standing but he had never been quite glad to see Kelso as at this moment since he represented a good excuse to escape.

"So that is about all there is for me to tell you," he concluded. "A great deal has been written about the affair in the newspapers but as you can see from what I've said it was a rather straightforward piece of work, remembered what he had intended to say in the beginning. "I wish to thank you for the honor of being invited to address your distinguished group. Thank you."

At the meeting broke up, a number of the Rotarians crowded around the speaker's table, anxious to exchange a word with their guest. Aguilar got hastily to his feet. "Thank you, you're very kind. Unfortunately, I have to leave immediately. Official business. I'm sure you understand wishers and, as fast as he was able, limped toward the exit.

Kelso was waiting beside the door, clomping methodically on his dead leg. Aguilar seized his arm. "I hope I haven't kept you waiting," he said so that the other might hear, and hastened the room.

"Didn't mean to bust in on you," Kelso muttered as they headed for the street entrance. "Sounded like a pretty good speech."

Aguilar snorted. "My last, I swear to that. Believe me, I don't remember a word I said. I was shaking in my boots."

They crossed the street to a small cantina on the corner. Kelso chuckled. "They didn't look so dangerous to me."

"Neither does a pistol from the rear. But when you are gazing into its mouth, that's another matter. If you hadn't arrived to give me an excuse of official business, I might still be there."

"As a matter of fact, it isn't an excuse, I got to a favor to ask." "Oh?" Aguilar raised his heavy eyebrows. "That's even better, I won't have to nurse a guilty conscience."

"It's about a ship," Kelso said without embellishment. "Kelso outlined the story of the Kari-Rum and the suspicions that had been raised regarding it and 'You're probably wondering what this has to do with you, because it really isn't your business any more than it's mine. It's Public Health's baby. But we've got this new man on our side - Dr. Slatore."

"What is it you would like me to do?" "Get in touch with the authorities down at Mazatlan. The freighter's probably docked there by now, or it'll be arriving soon. Maybe there's a chimpanzee aboard and maybe there isn't. But they'll be able to find out soon enough and, if so, he can be put in a confined or maybe debarred."

"I can handle it," Aguilar frowned thoughtfully. "A rather fantastic story, it seems to me."

Cloris ate a late lunch. Gabe Wise, who had eaten at the restaurant, had joined her for coffee. He was a sandy-haired man with pale skin lightly freckled and deep blue eyes and a generous mouth that smiled a good deal. His medium size body was a trifle overweight; his position as assistant deputy customs collector didn't provide as much exercise as a man of 41 required. Most of those who knew him thought Gabe Wise a nice guy, and some women considered him good-looking as well.

Cloris belonged to both groups. Cloris and Gabe crossed the highway, dodging among the lines of slow-moving traffic, heavier now with the approach of evening. Kelso was by now closed with Dr. Slatore but the door was ajar so they went in without knocking.

Slatore rose. "I'm glad you happen to be here, Dr. Howard. I was about to telephone you." Gabe answered the unspoken question. "Cloris has told me the story and I thought I'd sit in to represent Customs, since the chief is still on vacation."

Cloris couldn't wait any longer. She addressed Kelso. "Please - did you find out anything yet?" "Yeah," he sat down and took a notebook from his hip pocket, turning the pages deliberately. "I just left Colonel Aguilar. He's been on the line with Mazatlan for the past hour. He was too late to catch the freighter, though. The Kari-Rum cleared the port about noon."

"Oh, no!" "However," Kelso continued, "the Mazatlan port authorities contacted the ship by radio. Here's what they had to say. 'The freighter departed having any chimpanzees aboard, or any animals whatever. They denied that they carried passengers, specifically an American and two Italians. They denied that they carried any subsidiary cargo other than heavy machinery listed on the manifest. And, finally, they denied that there was any sickness aboard, nor had there been any.' He stopped speaking and, in the silence that followed, closed his notebook. 'So there you are.'"

As added insurance on a trip when the weather appears threatening, you might include one of the very small portable radios, a pocket-sized novel and a deck of cards. Some week ends it has been known to rain.

Count on your hosts for food unless you have offered to bring something in advance and they have agreed. Refrigeration is usually limited. There may be no room in the ice chest for your surplus contributions.

In your kit include toilet articles, insect repellent, sun lotion, a flashlight, binoculars, camera and sun glasses. Put or dark glasses immediately if it is a bright day. A few hours of staring into glare on the water can bring on a headache.

If you suspect seasickness, take in advance one of the new anti-motion drugs. While you may never feel upset on your boat, the seemingly unsettled motion of a strange craft can cause uneasiness in many experienced sailors.

Be certain that the marine toilet aboard operates in the manner to which you are accustomed. These devices can jam up easily. Ask questions of your skipper on such matters, follow instructions.

As added insurance on a trip when the weather appears threatening, you might include one of the very small portable radios, a pocket-sized novel and a deck of cards. Some week ends it has been known to rain.

But even a damp day can be restful if you are dry and warm aloft.

Count on your hosts for food unless you have offered to bring something in advance and they have agreed. Refrigeration is usually limited. There may be no room in the ice chest for your surplus contributions.

The Basic Side

IT'S that time again... the time that challenges anew an army of vigorous American youth to the task of preparation in basic education that will equip them with know-how for their tomorrows. Here young minds fresh from their bowl of wheaties, assemble for classroom and playground training. Dear Teacher, responsibility lies heavy on your shoulders. Don't forget that along with reading and writing and arithmetic—lessons in how to live God's way are needed. Teachers and students alike have God to honor and your country to save right there in your classrooms. Always remember, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

Proverbs 25:11. Blending of the academic with the spiritual lessons of Jesus, the greatest teacher, offers a moral and spiritual constitution possessing all the qualities basic in life.
